[4] The figure for businesses paid included in this week's update has fallen compared to the figure we previously reported (Friday, 5 August). This is an adjustment following recalculation of the base figure (number of eligible businesses paid). This adjustment has meant a small number of instalment and balance payments were mistakenly double counted as payments to separate businesses. It has no impact on the businesses concerned who have received their payments and does not change the overall amount of money we have paid as part of CAP 2015. We apologise for any confusion caused
